CONSEQUENCES OF UNTREATED CHRONIC WOUNDS:

Increased risk of infection:

Chronic wounds are prone to infections which can spread and cause serious health issues.

Chronic pain and discomfort:

Persistent wounds can cause continuous pain and discomfort, affecting daily activities.

Limited mobility:

Wounds, especially on the feet or legs, can hinder mobility and independence.

Prolonged hospital stays:

Untreated wounds can lead to complications requiring extended hospital care.

Increased healthcare costs:

The cost of treating complications from untreated wounds can be significant.

Severe complications

Untreated wounds can lead to severe outcomes, including amputations and even death
